

Troll is searching for a QUALITY TESTING ENGINEERING, who's ready to fine-tune their career.

Troll is a worldwide leader in the development high-speed air-to-ground data links, tracking antennas and control systems, designed to deliver image intelligence, surveillance and reconnaissance, from manned and unmanned aircraft, land and marine vehicles. Troll employees work in a truly exciting industry, with enormous growth potential. Troll products are used by foreign and domestic militaries, commercial broadcasters, police, fire, and search and rescue organizations all over the world.

RESPONSIBILITIES and EXPECTATIONS

In the first 30 days

- Develop a good and clear understanding of Troll Systems design and development procedures.
- Develop a good and clear understanding of Troll Systems release process including revisions and items included in document packages.
- Develop a methodology for test equipment inventory and tracking.
- Take ownership of maintaining the Engineering Lab

In the first 60 days

- Demonstrate understanding of the Troll System line of products including subassemblies and components.
- Demonstrate an ability to develop clear and concise Acceptance Test Procedures (ATP)
- Demonstrate an ability to design and release test fixtures, kits, cables etc...
- Demonstrate an ability to work with production and quality teams to improve workflow, work instructions, testing procedures and methods.
- Understand principles of the tools related to quality, including systematic problem solving through root cause analysis.

In the first 90 days

- Work independently (under guidance) to support production and quality departments as the engineering representative as needed.
- Have the tool tracking and inventory methodology up and running.
- Demonstrate understanding of ERP and file system structure.
- Develop understanding and work with embedded software.

Must be a U.S. citizen or Green Card holder for authorized access to controlled technology/data as subject to ITAR as well as possess both a valid driver's license and passport. This position reports to the Quality Assurance Manager. Compensation is commensurate with experience. Position location is in Valencia, CA.

Relocation is not available for this position.